

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

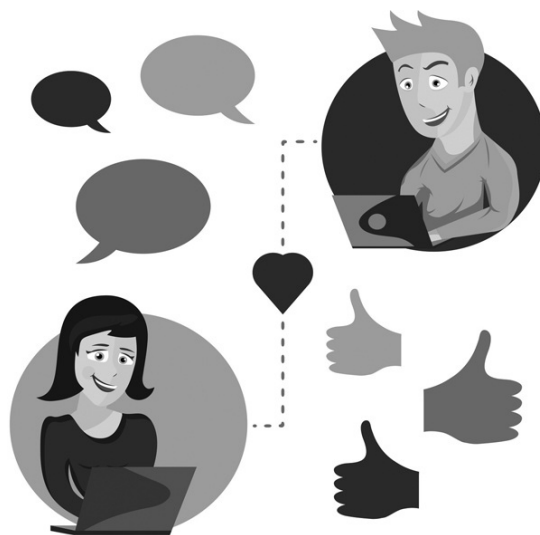

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

The appeal of online dating!

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How has online dating changed the way people date in your country?
- Do you know anyone who uses online dating? Do they like it?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about relationships and use colloquial expressions.
- I can discuss hopes and wishes for the present.
- I can talk about connected events in the present.

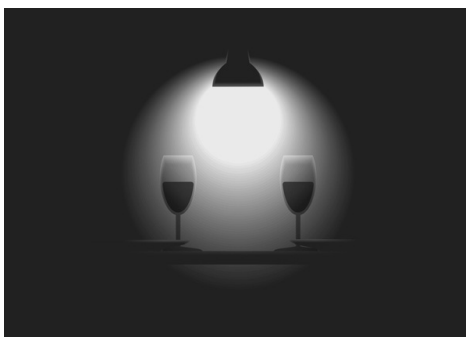

Let's Explore!

Your date was absolutely marvelous. However, mine was the year's worst!

* "Marvelous" means that something is wonderful or great.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: V. I'm at the end of my rope. Last week's date was disastrous.
- Vanessa: Tell me what happened.
- Peter: I met this girl for dinner. She was beautiful and bubbly and funny and I was ... ugh!
- Vanessa: You were ... you?
- Peter: Exactly. Painfully shy. The usual. I wish that I weren't so shy, but I was intimidated by her the minute she came into the room. I couldn't string together a sentence and I came off as super creepy. I wish I wasn't so easily rattled.
- Vanessa: Oh. I'm sure it wasn't that bad.
- Peter: She left early and today I got a text saying it was nice to meet me, but she felt there was no connection. What do you do when someone says that?
- Vanessa: Nothing. I move on.
- Peter: I wish I hadn't gone on that stupid date. I wish I hadn't called and I wish I had never asked her out. Uggh. I can't do this face to face dating thing.
- Vanessa: Maybe you need to try online dating.
- Peter: If I can't date normally, how am I supposed to date online?
- Vanessa: When people have a problem with shyness, they often try online dating because they don't have to meet until they get to know each other. If the person is nice, and you feel comfortable, then you go on a date.
- Peter: Have you ever done it?
- Vanessa: Sure. I have a profile and I'm talking to a few people online. I look at it if there is nothing on T.V. and when I have a day off from work, I often try to arrange a date.
- Peter: That sounds interesting.
- Vanessa: Sure, lots of people are doing it. Do you want me to help you out?
- Peter: That would be marvelous.

Let's Practice!

Peter talks about his disastrous date...

Instructions: Match the two halves to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- | | |
|---|--------------------------------------|
| 1. I'm at the end | a. she felt there was no connection. |
| 2. Last week's date | b. string together a sentence. |
| 3. I couldn't | c. of my rope. |
| 4. I came off | d. was disastrous. |
| 5. She left early, and today I got a text saying it was nice to met me, but | e. as super creepy. |

Let's Practice!

Peter wishes he hadn't met her.

Instructions: Select the correct option to complete the sentence.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. I wish that I _____ so shy, but I was intimidated by her the minute she came into the room.
a. weren't
b. isn't
c. aren't | 4. I wish I hadn't _____ her on the phone.
a. call
b. calling
c. called |
| 2. I _____ I wasn't so easily rattled.
a. wish
b. wished
c. wishing | 5. I wish I _____ never asked her out.
a. hasn't
b. had
c. have |
| 3. I wish I hadn't _____ on that stupid date.
a. going
b. go
c. gone | |

Extension Activity

The Online Dating Debate.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- In pairs, write a list of the good and bad things about online dating.
- With your partner, choose a side (good or bad) you agree with the most.
- Come up with three supporting points. Go online to find ideas.
- Think of some examples to help support your points.
- Debate your position against another pair who has an opposing position.
- After the debate, decide which side had the stronger arguments and why.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I brainstorm ideas about online dating.

☐ ☐

I choose a side and build a case for that side through research and supporting points and examples.

☐ ☐

I work with a partner and debate our position.

☐ ☐

I critique our performance.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- bubbly (adjective): lively, cheerful
e.g. She is a very bubbly person.
- to string together a sentence (verb): arrange a group of things into a series e.g. He can hardly string a sentence together.
- at the end of my rope (expression): to be very upset, or angry e.g. After losing all her money, she was at the end of her rope.
- disastrous (adjective): causing great damage or stress e.g. The rainstorm was disastrous for my garden.
- intimidated (adjective): to feel frightened
e.g. I was intimidated by the very tall man.
- rattled (adjective): to feel worried or nervous
e.g. I felt rattled after they started asking me tough questions.

Learning Points

Expressing Wishes About the Present

You use "I wish ..." to talk about things you do not have or do, or you cannot have or do. You use wish + the past form of the verb or the past participle of the verb to talk about imaginary situations in the present.

The verb wish introduces an idea. After wish, you use a verb in the past tense.

I wish I knew ...

I wish I had ...

I wish you were ...

Structure:

Wish + Simple Past tense

Example	Meaning
I wish that I weren't so shy.	I don't want to be so shy, but I am.
I wish I wasn't so easily rattled.	I don't want to be so easily rattled, but I am.

Examples:

- I wish that I weren't so shy.
- I wish I wasn't so easily rattled.
- I wish I hadn't gone on that stupid date.
- I wish I hadn't called and I wish I had never asked her out.
- I wish I had more time to visit.

Learning Points

The Present Real Conditional

The Present Real Conditional is used to talk about facts and truths. The condition is always possible and the result is generally expected to always be the same.

The Present Real Conditional is also called the Zero Conditional.

You use the structure:

If/when ... Simple Present, ... Simple Present

or

Simple Present ... if/when ... Simple Present

The Present Real Conditional can be used with both if and when. In this case, they have the same meaning.

For example:

What do you do when someone says that?

and

What do you do if someone says that?

Both of these sentences have essentially the same meaning.

The Zero or Real Conditional is formed using the Present Simple tense, because the conditions and results are seen as facts or generalizations.

Examples:

- If the person is nice, and you feel comfortable, then you go on a date.
- I read a book only if there is nothing on T.V.
- If people eat too much chocolate, they get fat.
- If they don't exercise at all, they won't be healthy.

