

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

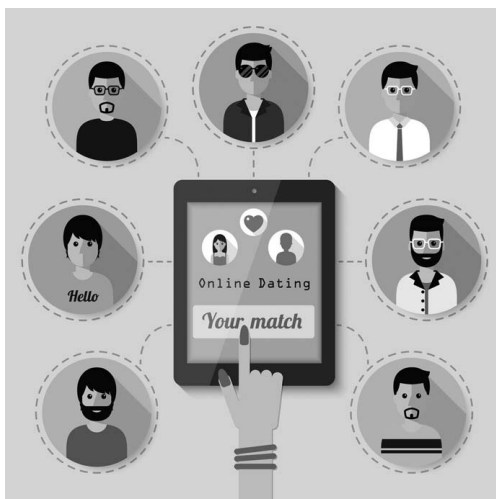

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What do you look for in a partner?

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What personality characteristics and physical attributes do you look for in a partner?
- What are your best qualities you bring to a relationship?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about relationships and use colloquial expressions.
- I can discuss hopes and wishes for the present and the future.
- I can express what is necessary.

Let's Explore!

Let's go to the Citadel. It's a new dance hot spot in the city.

* A "hot spot" is a popular place usually for food or drink.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Vanessa: OK. Now that we have signed you up, let's look at some examples of what to write.

Peter: OK.

What would you like to change about yourself?

Vanessa: Well, if I'm being honest, I wish my ears didn't stick out so much. And I guess I wish I had fuller lips. I'm a pretty good musician, but I really wish I could dance better. I enjoy parties and clubs, but I always feel a bit shy when I get out on the dance floor.

Peter: Really? You're an okay dancer.

Vanessa: There is always room for improvement.

Peter: Let's see what else.

What physical qualities should your date possess?

Vanessa: Well, he's absolutely got to have a washboard stomach. And he needs to be tall. I mean, it really doesn't bother me if a guy is short, but I would prefer it if he were taller than me (in heels, of course!).

Peter: Really? You have got to date Mr. abs?

Vanessa: Hey. I'm a busy girl, so I don't have a lot of time to spend sifting through a bunch of flabby dudes I'm not going to contact. So the guy needs to be ripped! You have to be specific.

Peter: Cold blooded!

What personal qualities should your date possess?

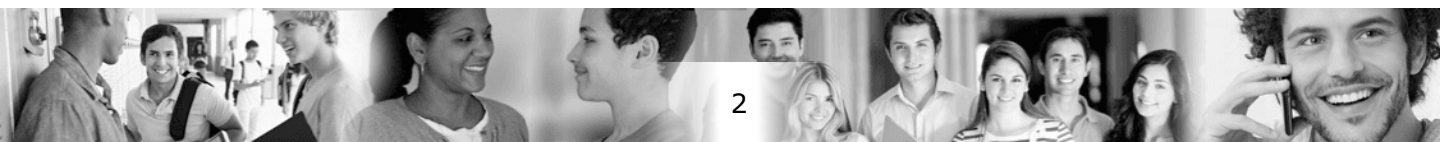

Vanessa: He should be sweet, but definitely not a pushover. He doesn't need to be well off, but it would be nice if he had a job. And he has to be spontaneous, I adore spontaneity in a man!

What is your ideal date?

Vanessa: I really wish I knew how to speak more languages, because my ideal dates all involve travel. I would especially love to go to the culinary hotspots, like Italy, Thailand, or France. An ideal date simply must include good food, accompanied by a glass of vintage red.

Peter: Wow! You are high maintenance.

Vanessa: Yep, but I am worth it.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa talks about the things she wishes she had.

Instructions: Read the text and underline all the sentences that express hopes and wishes for the present and the future.

Vanessa: Well, if I'm being honest, I wish my ears didn't stick out so much. And I guess I wish I had fuller lips. I'm a pretty good musician, but I really wish I could dance better. I enjoy parties and clubs, but I always feel a little bit shy when I get out on the dance floor. I wish I weren't that shy.

Peter: Really? You're an okay dancer.

Vanessa: There is always room for improvement.

Peter: Let's see what else.

Vanessa: I really wish I knew how to speak more languages because my ideal dates all involve travel. I would especially love to go to the culinary hotspots like Italy, Thailand, or France. An ideal date simply must include good food accompanied by a glass of vintage red.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa talks about what she wants in a man.

Instructions: Cross out the mistakes in each sentence.

1. He's absolutely got to in have a washboard stomach.
2. He needs has to be tall.
3. He doesn't need to has be well off, but it would be nice if he had a job.
4. He has to are be spontaneous.

Extension Activity

Make a collage of my perfect match.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Look for pictures of the faces of different people in a magazine or go online.
- Print or cut out their best facial features and create the perfect face for a potential mate.
- Cut out your ideal nose, or a set of eyes you feel are perfect.
- In groups, explain your collage and whose features did you use and why did you pick those features.
- Write a 200 word paper describing your ideal partner in detail.
- Emphasize personality traits and characteristics and why you like those individual traits.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I research various people that have ideal features.

☐ ☐

I make a collage of the perfect face for my ideal mate.

☐ ☐

I explain my choices and my collage.

☐ ☐

I write 200 words describing my ideal partner's personality in detail.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to sift (verb): to separate; to look thoroughly so as to identify what you are looking for e.g. I sifted through the garbage looking for my ring.
- flabby (adjective): soft and fat e.g. My dad is starting to get a little flabby.
- ripped (adjective): very muscular and toned
Example: The personal trainer's body is ripped.
- cold-blooded (adjective): deliberately cruel
e.g. Our boss fires people for no reason because he is cold blooded.
- pushover (adjective): A person who is easily persuaded e.g. My brother is a pushover. You can convince him to do anything.
- spontaneous (adjective): coming from a natural impulse
e.g. The spontaneous emotions of so many fans have overwhelmed the internet.
- high maintenance (adjective): demands a lot of attention
e.g. My cat is very high maintenance.

Learning Points

Expressing Wishes About the Present and The Future

You use "I wish ... " to talk about things you do not have or do, or you cannot have or do. The verb wish introduces an idea. After wish, you use a verb in the past tense.

I wish I knew ...

I wish I had ...

I wish you were ...

Example	Meaning
I wish I had fuller lips.	I would like to have fuller lips, but it isn't possible.
I really wish I could dance better.	I would like to be a better dancer, but that seems very unlikely.
I really wish I knew how to speak more languages.	I would like to speak more languages, but I can't.

Examples:

- I wish my ears didn't stick out so much.
- I guess I wish I had fuller lips.
- I'm a pretty good musician, but I really wish I could dance better.
- I really wish I knew how to speak more languages.

Learning Points

Expressing Necessity

You use the modals must and have (got) to to express necessity in the past or in the present.

Must refers to a necessary condition that comes from the subject and may be directed at the subject or the person the subject is talking to or about. It is used to express a strong necessity.

Example:

I must set up this online profile by tomorrow.

An ideal date must include good food.

Have (got) to expresses obligations. These obligations come from a source other than the subject. They could be rules or regulations that the subject has no control over. You use have got to to show that necessity is not as strong as with must.

Example:

My ideal date has to be tall.

When there is no obligation to do something, you use the negative form of have to, not mustn't.

Example:

My ideal date doesn't have to be well off.

Must does not have a past form. When you want to use a past form for must, choose had to.

I had to finish some work, so I couldn't set up my online profile last night.

Examples:

- He's absolutely got to have a washboard stomach.
- An ideal date simply must include good food.
- He has to be spontaneous.

